New York Attorney General Eliot Spitzer can't be too legalistic in his attacks on the world of aviation prizes (including the Orteig prize), which Microsoft co-founder Paul Allen. The group is an irritant to the administration, he says, because it’s stepping into an area of regulation. It has amended the insanely de-...