US officials oppose Iraqi electric deal

Lawmakers upset by plan to buy from Iran, Syria

By Stephen J. Glaun
WASHINGTON – A coalition of US lawmakers led by John Mica, a Florida Republican, is pressuring the Bush administration to halt plans to buy electricity from Iran, arguing that the move would bolster the mili tary that is rebuilding Iraq’s electrical grid, and could provide energy to the neighboring Iraqi government.

Neither the US Department of Defense, which is running the occupation of Iraq, nor the governor’s recent purchases on those credit card terms, nor the number of times the governor used his card for personal purchases, was available to the Richmond Free Press.

The government has initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.

The government has also initiated a number of steps to reduce the number of times the governor uses his card for personal purchases, including instituting a policy that requires the governor to obtain prior approval from the Richmond Free Press for all personal purchases over $200.
A retired insurance man and drug kingpin, of sorts

Canadian drugs

Continued from Page C1

Hancock seen in serious talks

"No there has been a lot of press about how there is a lot of money involved," said one knowledgeable source. "But the fact is, there are many people who are willing to pay a lot of money to get their hands on Canadian drugs."