

Exploring a Housing-Based Health Care Partnership Model for Vulnerable Populations in Los Angeles

Wednesday, May 20, 2020

1:00 p.m. - 2:30 p.m. PDT

Panel Discussion

This is an invitation-only event.

The challenges facing residents living in publicly-assisted or low-income housing do not end once they are housed. In fact, the health care needs of vulnerable populations persist despite safe, secure housing due to health inequities built into our society and systems. Residents must be empowered to take control of their health, and housing is the best place to do so as behaviors are shaped at home.

Building on the conversation that began at a Southern California Association of Nonprofit Housing Annual Conference \(SCANPH\) Health Equity Track workshop in October 2019, join us for an engaging discussion that will address the pain points of siloed housing and health care systems, describe a successful population health-based partnership model for housing-based care coordination, and explore how such a model could be adapted to LA's housing, health care, public health and social services environment.
